DemanData relocates corporate headquarters in Manatee County

Bradenton, FL – DemanData Systems, a leader in supply chain information technology for the healthcare industry, relocated its corporate headquarters into a newly renovated building in the Gulf Coast Corporate Park of Palmetto in Manatee County in October. DemanData employs 100 people in four states; 40 employees are located in Manatee County.

"We appreciated having the opportunity to work with DemanData Systems, a targeted information technology employer, on this expansion," said Eric Basinger, executive director of the Economic Development Council (EDC), a division of the Manatee Chamber of Commerce. The EDC helped facilitate DemanData's relocation from their facility in the southern portion of Manatee County to their new location in the Gulf Coast Corporate Park through the county's rapid response permitting program.

"DemanData's relocation to Palmetto is a prime example of how county government and the private sector can work together to bring more high-wage jobs to Manatee County," said Manatee County Administrator Ed Hunzeker. "We are focused on delivering the services that businesses need to locate and expand here, while maintaining our community's high standards for quality of life."

"The relationship between DemanData Systems and the rapid response permitting team in Manatee County is a great example of how a vision can be turned into reality, quickly and efficiently," said Maureen Donovan, the company's vice president of marketing. "We are looking forward to a long and prosperous relationship with the community here in Manatee County."

About the EDC

The Economic Development Council, a division of the Manatee Chamber of Commerce, is the sole organization responsible for developing and implementing programs designed to attract new value-added businesses and to assist in the retention and growth of targeted existing businesses in Manatee County.
